

Her Roomin' Days
Are Over — But How About Arthur?

The last chapter of The Voyages and Adventures of Olgie Lamer is a little ending for the restless body who drove a team and a horse-drawn wagon the way from Vermont to Arkansas and back again.

Olgie rolled into her home station, Bethel, Vt., yesterday only to learn she wasn't exactly welcome.

Olgie had left Bethel, Vt., a year and a half ago with some caustic comments on the Vermont climate. It was, she said, too cold. Not for herself, particularly — Olgie never says anything directly, but in oblique fashion blames the quotation on Husband Arthur. The person for whom Vermont's climate was too cold, therefore, was Arthur.

Down here in Arkansas we had the same story in reverse. Arkansas' climate was too hot — for Arthur, that is.

So now we're all snugly back home in Bethel, Vt. — but alas, Vermont has long memories. They take a dim view of Olgie's fundamental friendliness and stability and usefulness of Olgie Lamer — and an even dimmer view of her proposal to transplant Arkansas goats and set up a Vermont goat ranch. It rains a lot up Vermont way, and on a rainy day a goat is as loud to the nostrils as the Vermont hills are tall.

We said some mean things about Olgie, during this dispute between Vermont and Arkansas; but there's a human catch in the paring lines of United Press' report yesterday from Bethel:

Wearily but happy at the end of her long trek, Mrs. Lamer said she now was willing to stop roaming.

"I'm ready to settle down and raise chickens," she said, "or goats."

There's a human cry in that line. First, restlessness, then peace. But for the goats. With the goats there will be no peace, so says Vermont.

And here, it seems to me, is a golden opportunity for Silent Arthur. He is always being quoted but who never talks; his presence is always being mentioned, but who's never there — here is an opportunity for Arthur to make a stunning 11th hour appearance.

While Olgie's been roomin' home Arthur's gotten himself a job at Buffalo, N. Y. He ought to take that job, rush home and tell Olgie. "Look here, gal, let's drop the goat business. We'll go back home now, and if you forget the goats maybe we can stay."

Arthur ought to do that. Will he? He won't.

Producers Distribute Own Milk

Little Rock, Sept. 7 — (UP) — Central Arkansas milk producers were going ahead with their plans for distributing milk at a retail level today despite a new fee for a percentage of the current distribution sent out by the milk distributors yesterday.

The Pulaski County Milk Distributors' association met here yesterday and offered a proposal that representatives to the dispute appoint a committee to investigate the situation. Under the plan, the decision of the representatives would be final.

Meanwhile Little Rock Alderman James A. Gray said he would ask the council to end the argument by condemning milk imports. Gray, a labor leader, said he is "absolutely opposed" to retailers purchasing the milk anywhere outside the state. At the present time distributors are hauling milk from Illinois.

The distributors yesterday appointed Fred Terry as its representative.

However, the milk distributors proposal through the press met a cool reception from Dr. T. M. Dick of the CAMPA who said that such have to have the approval of his organization's board of directors.

Dick said that the producers were going ahead with their plans to "furnish the finished product" at their Carlisle processing plant and that the settlement of the dispute would have no effect on the plan "we've got too big an investment in it to call a halt to it now," Dick added.

He said that "we can only go on the basis of the fact that the distributors have their own supply of milk and that we must furnish our own market."

50 Injured In Big Explosion In Japan

Tokyo, Sept. 7 — (UP) — Tens of thousands of people were killed in a big explosion in a concrete warehouse blew up with a terrific roar today, injuring about 50 persons and shattering windows for a distance of five miles.

Most of the injured were cut by flying glass.

American military officials were investigating the blast, believed at first to have been caused by "spontaneous combustion." However, a Japanese official said he saw white smoke rising from the area about a half hour before the storehouse blew up.

The explosion, the biggest in Tokyo since the war, left no trace of the 200 by 75-foot storehouse in which industrial and sporting gun powder had been stored. Six other blockhouses and 15 dwellings were heavily damaged. The damage was estimated at $40,000.

Mo-Pac, Faced With Strike, Refuses Freight

St. Louis, Sept. 7 — (AP) — A spokesman for the Missouri Pacific said today the railroad now is accepting no freight that cannot be delivered by 2 p. m. (CDT) Friday, the time set for a strike.

That's the effect of a freight embargo imposed by the railroad last night.

"Most freight in transit now and which can reach its destination within the next 48 hours will be accepted," the railroad spokesman explained. "But we're not going to get caught with loaded cars on the sidings."

Operating employees of four brotherhoods called the strike in protest over some 282 unsettled contracts. The railroad estimates $2,000,000. The walkout would tie up the railroad's operations and idle about 30,000 workers.

In announcing the freight embargo last night the railroad said similar restrictions will be placed on passenger, mail, baggage and express services at midnight tonight.

No new developments were reported in the strike situation today. But in Washington last night the national mediation board said "the door is still open for a settlement." A special arbitration board to handle the grievances has been proposed.

Numerous industries in the 11-state area served by Missouri Pacific would be seriously affected by the proposed strike.

Will idle 6,000 Arkansans Little Rock, Sept. 7 — (UP) — Arkansans faced a dark employment picture today with the prospect that nearly 6,000 union and non-operating personnel in the state would be idled in a Missouri Pacific railroad strike scheduled for Friday.

The company slapped a freight embargo on points along the entire line (excluding the company's subsidiaries) at midnight last night. And M-O-P officials said a total of 25,000 non-operating personnel along the system would be laid off at noon Friday, two hours before the strike is scheduled to start.

The number includes an estimated 4,035 non-operating workers in Arkansas. Approximately 1,800 union workers in the state would participate in the strike to bring the grand total who would be idled to at least 5,835.

Arkansas Division Supt. Sam Hammer said some 2,600 non-operating personnel would be laid off in his division with the remainder spread among the other three divisions in the state. They are the central, Memphis and White river divisions.

The walkout, unless a last-minute settlement is reached, will come at a time when 1,500 Arkansans are idled by a Reynolds Metals company strike called early in August. It was only six weeks ago that state employment security division officials pointed to a comparatively low level of unemployment in Arkansas compared with other states.

Traffic Manager O. W. Williams said that most shipments out of this city were halted last night under the freight embargo. He added, however, that some shipments would be made if there were any assurance of their deliveries before the strike deadline.

P. J. Neff, the railroad's chief executive, said in telegrams to Mayors Sam Vassell and Ros Little Rock that the strike would cause discontinuance of service along the entire railroad.

McMath Hits Political Enemies Little Rock, Sept. 7 — (UP) — Governor McMath today called a scheduled anti-McMath rally in Arkansas' youthful governor today charged that an "undercover campaign" is being waged by a few "political enemies" in an effort to "discredit" him and to hamper his administration.

Lumping together various suits against the state, reports of opposition next summer and the recent grand jury probe of the state girls' industrial school, Sir McMath said "they are all part of a plan."

"I have concrete evidence that all of this campaign comes from one or a few sources, he said. "I know who they are because I have had investigations made and I can prove it."

In his first comment on a rally scheduled near Conway tomorrow for the announced purpose of selecting his opponent next summer, the governor said it was called by a "few individuals trying to select a governor who will do their own bidding on patronage and on things in which they have a financial interest."

The Conway meeting was first revealed in letters sent out by Harry Lee Williams, campaigner in races by both former Governor Ben T. Lancy and former Attorney General Jack Holt.

McMath declared that those calling the meeting "want to represent a special few and not all of the people."

He charged that the group is made up mostly of people who opposed him last year and said "by their own admission they began their campaign against me before I took office."

"They are a bunch of disgruntled office seekers" and "sophisticated with political axes to grind," he said. He added that many of them are "sore because I won't let them cut up the state treasury."

Reynolds May Buy Two More Arkansas Plants

Little Rock, Sept. 7 — (AP) — The Reynolds Aluminum Company is considering the purchase of two Arkansas aluminum plants from the War Assets Administration, a company spokesman in Richmond, Va., said last night.

No decision has been reached, he added.

The company now holds the Jones Mill and Hurricane Creek plants under a 17-year lease for WAA, but operations have been halted since August 1 by a strike of CIO United Steelworkers of America.

CAMDEN KILLER CAPTURED — Harold Unruh, 26, right, who barricaded himself in a second floor room in Camden, N. J., killed twelve persons and wounded five others, sits with detective after his capture. (NEA Telephoto)

Youth Is 13th Victim of Mad Gunman; Psychiatrists to Determine His Sanity

Camden, N. J., Sept. 7 — (AP) — Four psychiatrists today questioned Howard Unruh, 26-year-old war veteran who massacred 13 persons on River road.

Twelve-five men, five women and two children — were killed yesterday as the silent, methodical Unruh put his "preconceived plan into execution." Three others — a woman and two youths — were wounded.

The 13th, John Wilson, 10, died this morning at Cooper hospital, where Unruh underwent an unsuccessful operation for the removal of a bullet from his hip.

Prosecutor Mitchell Cohen said Unruh's wound is not serious and that he is physically able to undergo extensive questioning by mental health experts.

Should the psychiatrists find that Unruh was sane, Cohen said he will press for an immediate grand jury indictment, early trial and death by electrocution, the penalty for murder in New Jersey. Unruh already has been charged with murder.

The prosecutor told newsmen that Unruh, a Bible-reading war veteran with an "arsenal of weapons," said in his statement yesterday that he killed because of "resentment against his neighbors."

Cohen said Unruh listed four shopkeepers as his intended victims: Druggist Maurice Cohen, 40; Shoemaker John Picharik, 27; Barber Clark Hoover, 33, and Tailor Thomas Zegrino, 29.

He got Cohen, Picharik and Hoover. Zegrino escaped because he wasn't in his shop when Unruh walked in carrying his German luger pistol. Unruh stalked to the rear of the shop and killed Zegrino's bride of six months.

But, in addition to those four, Unruh killed Druggist Cohen's wife and mother; an insurance salesman, a television salesman, two women and a boy in a car; a six-year-old boy getting a haircut in Hoover's barber shop, and a two-year-old boy who poked his head out of a window.

Cohen was asked whether Unruh said anything of his reaction to having killed innocent men, women and children.

"He wasn't asked that question," Cohen said. "And he didn't volunteer any motive other than the fact that he said he had been building up a grudge against his neighbors for two years since he returned from the army."

Unruh's mother and grandmother were killed beside him as they sat in their car waiting for a traffic light.

Meanwhile, thousands of curious onlookers flocked to the scene to examine at first hand the bullet holes and other mute evidence of the massacre — described by police as the worst street shooting in the nation's history.

The stunned families of the victims prepared to bury their dead, police maintained a round-the-clock vigil at the hospital bedside of Unruh.

Captured when police tear gas forced him from his own home, Unruh later was found to have the hip wound. It was not determined immediately whether the bullet came from the gun of a civilian or one of the police men who converged on his hideout.

Conference on British Dollar Crisis Underway

Washington, Sept. 7 — (AP) — Britain's foreign policy and economic chiefs arrived today for talks with the United States and Canada on the British dollar crisis.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps came by train from New York where their ship docked last night.

Bevin described the three-power conference as a means "to win the struggle for one world, one world of free and democratic peoples."

Bevin gave his views in New York and he declined to amplify at 6:10 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) today.

A reporter told him that Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Charles A. B. said yesterday that Canada would be glad to see Britain given the right to spend its Marshall plan dollars anywhere.

Bevin smiled over this idea for a moment, said he had no comment but then added, "it sounds rather good, anyway."

Three power talks starting in a fifth floor conference room at the state department at 11 a. m. EST, the British leaders are expected to seek American agreement to speed up spending of dollars for strategic materials such as tin and rubber.

At the same time they want to relax a 1946 Anglo-American loan agreement provision so that Britain can increase discrimination against buying American goods.

These and other measures which American officials are expected to receive sympathetically, are designed to (1) increase the flow of badly needed dollars to Britain and (2) enable the British to curtail the spending of the dollars and gold they now have.

Bevin was ready to argue should the point come up, that the troubles which beset Britain are not due to its socialist government programs. He was somewhat edgy when a newsmen asked him last night about charges that British socialism has bungled the nation's economic affairs.

An 11 a. m. EST, advisory said hurricane force winds extended out 100 miles on the east and north-east salient of the storm, with gales covering an area 400 miles in diameter.

At 5 a. m. (EST), the storm was spinning like a huge top, its center almost motionless but its revolving winds reaching speeds of 120 to 130 miles per hour.

The hurricane's water planes were able to place the storm center accurately today for the first time in four days.

But the huge storm's forward movement was imperceptible, and the weather bureau could do was say that it "appears to be moving in an easterly direction."

The contest is to fill the unexpired term of Senator Robert F. Wagner, Democrat, who resigned because of illness. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey named Dulles to fill the seat until November's election.

At that time, Dulles said he could not be a candidate in the election. Since then, however, party leaders have pressed him to make the race. They argue that he has a better chance than any other prospective candidate of keeping the seat for the GOP.

New York Republican and Democratic parties will hold state committee meetings later this month to name senatorial candidates. Present indications are that neither Dulles nor Lehman will be opposed in their respective parties.

Dulles made known his decision at a news conference. He read a statement to reporters which said: "As is known, I had not expected or desired to become a candidate for a further term in the United States senate."

"I would greatly prefer that another carry that responsibility. However, I do not see how our free society can survive if those who have deep convictions reject the opportunity to carry these convictions into public life."

"Therefore, if the state Republican convention, knowing my views, should nominate me, I would gladly accept and respond to the best of my ability."

Trapeze Artist Loses Arm in 110-Foot Plunge

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 7 — (UP) — Melvin Bennett, 20 year old Moultrie, Ga., trapeze artist billed as the "Stratosphere Sensation," lost an arm today after a 110-foot plunge from a pole in sight of his mother.

Bennett had climbed to the peak of the pole to perform a handstand before some 3,500 carnival spectators. A gust of wind caused the pole to bend with Bennett's weight.

The pole leaned in a deep arc, then snapped, dropping Bennett on a guy wire which broke his fall. Bennett has been performing his high-pole act with Wallace & Murray shows since he was 16. The accident occurred last night at Covington, the opening of the Tip-top county fair.

Council Opens Door to Outside Milk Firms

Hope city council last night opening the door to outside milk concerns by passing a new ordinance and repealing an old one which prohibited sale of milk here unless processed in Hempstead county.

This action followed a pending suit in Chancery Court filed by William (Bill) McClendon questioning legality of the old ordinance. McClendon seeks to sell milk processed by Borden Co. of Texas at the county fair.

The suit, scheduled for last Monday, was postponed by the court.

However, the court gave McClendon a restraining order which allows him to sell milk here until the issue is decided. He was previously barred from doing so by the old ordinance and posted $500 bond.

Last night's action by the city council automatically killed the suit. Whether McClendon will seek to test provisions of the new ordinance was not known today. His attorney, J. H. Filkins, indicated last night that he would seek a permit today.

The new ordinance "welcomes" out-of-town concerns provided they meet certain requirements and pay certain fees. It was modeled after a similar ordinance which already has successfully passed a high court test.

The ordinance gives the city right to inspect and test milk produced by an outside company and allows inspection and testing fees, in pre-purchase inspection last night it was estimated that the milk in Hope would cost the Borden Co. or its distributor about $8000 per year. This also effects county dairies and producers who would have to pay an estimated $2000.

To carry out the inspection program a full time milk inspector would have to be hired, the council pointed out and it would cost considerable money for this. Inspector to make frequent trips to Texas to inspect Borden's herd and test milk produced there. The ordinance provides a certain fee for each cow in a herd, another fee for each hundred pounds of milk, and other requirements.

The ordinance and emergency clause was passed by a 4-2 vote. One member of the council refused to vote.

Three other ordinances were approved. Two involved the 20 percent payments of Street Improvement Districts No. 14 and 15; and the other allocating a portion of West 11th Street between Washington and Grady.

In other action the Water and Light Committee asked and received permission to employ technical assistance in making a comparative study of electrical rates.

The city attorney was authorized to prepare a deed from the City to Hope School District property north of the school known as the McMillan property.

The Water and Light plant was instructed not to make connections with new constructions until a building permit is granted.

The group allowed compensation of $100 to E. A. Taylor for an unavoidable mistake in a cemetery lot more than 20 years ago.

Police committee was authorized to work out an agreement whereby the county sheriff's cars can be connected with the police radio system.

A petition signed by 17 residents of the McMillan community asked extension of an electric line east of the main line on Spring Hill road to Union Chapel. The issue was turned over to C. O. Thomas for study.

The Park committee recommended that the city accept the Negro Park property.

Fire Chief Embree was authorized to employ additional help to burn off vacant lots.

Gen. Gruenther Named Deputy Chief of Staff

Washington, Sept. 7 — (AP) — Maj. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, who had been named army deputy chief of staff for plans and combat operations.

Rear Adm. Arthur C. Davis will succeed Gruenther as director of the joint staff. Gruenther is completing a two-year term in that post under the joint chief of staff.

Davis has been a member of the joint strategic survey committee on naval operations since Oct. 15, 1945.

Gruenther will succeed Lt. Gen. Albert A. Wedemeyer, who is going to the Far East to take command of the Sixth Army.

Gruenther was chief of staff of allied force headquarters in 1942-43 in the European theater, after which he served as chief of staff of the Fifth Army, and then the 14th Army group until 1945. Then he became department commander of U. S. forces in Austria.

Davis was operations officer on the staff of Admiral Ernest J. King while he was commander in chief of the U. S. fleet. Gruenther was chief of staff during 1944 and 1945 to Admiral Raymond A. Spruance while he was in command of the Fifth fleet in the Pacific.

Wedemeyer is replacing Gen. Mark W. Clark as commander of the Sixth Army. Clark is taking over as head of army ground forces, succeeding Gen. Jacob Devers, who retired.

Hurricane Rolls Along Eastern Atlantic Coast

Miami, Fla., Sept. 7 — (UP) — A gigantic hurricane spread across the Gulf of Mexico and rolled slowly north-eastward toward the transatlantic shipping lanes today with 115-mile-an-hour winds kicking up mountainous seas.

The great storm was 375 miles east, southeast of Bermuda and moving along a line that would carry it east of the British "Hemlock" line.

The hurricane warning service urged all shipping to avoid the storm. The service said a "few" ships were in the storm area but fleeing from its path.

Winds whirling around the center of the hurricane were piling up "No. 9" waves, the weather bureau code for seas of "phenomenal" proportions.

A high pressure area covering the eastern seaboard was tending the storm from the mainland. The Miami weather bureau said there was no indication of any future change in conditions which might permit the storm to change course for the coast.

An 11 a. m. EST, advisory said hurricane force winds extended out 100 miles on the east and north-east salient of the storm, with gales covering an area 400 miles in diameter.

At 5 a. m. (EST), the storm was spinning like a huge top, its center almost motionless but its revolving winds reaching speeds of 120 to 130 miles per hour.

NAVY PLANE COMBINES JETS AND PROPS—This is the Navy's new patrol plane, the Martin P4M-1 Mercator, first shown to the public at the Cleveland Air Races. The aircraft has four engines but looks like a twin-engine model. Two standard gasoline engines are used for normal flight and the two jet engines, housed in the same nacelles, are used for extra bursts of speed. The Mercator is capable of speeds over 300 miles per hour and carries a load of 60,000 pounds.

The Story: Gaynel Teare has accepted Fritz Freyman's proposal of marriage. She is wildly in love even though she knows there are many problems to be solved. Fritz, a family, which she has supported since her father's death, must now get along on a moderate income and not rely on Gaynel's salary. Gaynel's hardest task is to tell Barry Baine, a wealthy young man, who is in love with her, Barry had asked her to marry him and Gaynel promised to give him an answer later. In the meantime she had fallen in love with Fritz. Now, Gaynel and Barry return home from football game. Gaynel decides to tell Barry her plans. She starts to break the news, and Barry asks her, "What are you trying to say?"

Barry looked at her now for a long moment. "If you're trying to give me that answer I asked for, you needn't hurry. I don't want to rush you. Perhaps that was taking you too much for granted. But see it differently now. I want you to take all the time you want to decide. I want you to be sure, as you said."

"That's dear of you, Barry." She smiled. He wasn't such a dear. He did make it easier by being like that. "I told you I'd tell you as soon as I was sure. I am sure now, Barry. And I'm so terribly sorry I can't give you the answer I'd like to give."

He had not looked at her, or said a word, but she had seen his hands tighten on the wheel, the knuckles white. "You'll wonder why I'm so sure — now," she said. "I promised I'd tell if ever there was someone else. . . Oh, I hate myself for having to tell you this, truly I do. I wouldn't tell you, Barry, if I weren't so sure."

"That's all right," he said. And still without looking at her: "It's Freyman, isn't it?"

"I think I've known it all along. I told you I felt some sort change in you—after you met him. I guess I woke up — too late."

"You mustn't say that. Or feel it. As I told you, I don't believe you love me — not in the way I love Fritz. Why, Barry, it simply turns your whole world upside down! It makes you giddy — silly — and so ridiculously happy you scarcely can bear it. You don't really feel that way about me."

"Never mind that," Barry said. "Please." He looked at her now. He did not try to hide the hurt in his eyes. "It's a bit too soon for condolences. Right on top of a death sentence."

"You mustn't take it like that, Barry." He did care. In the way she felt about Fritz. But he would get over it. "I'm so fond of you, Barry, you're so much a part of my life. I want you always to be that part. I owe so terribly much to you, more than I ever can repay in any way."

"Never mind that, either," Barry said; but not so shortly. This had been a blow; but he would not give up yet. He still had to much to offer her. It still seemed too right — and sure — that he and Gaynel belonged together; always had and always would. He could afford patience. "You don't owe me anything, Gaynel."

"Indeed, I do!"

"Are you — and Freyman planning anything definite — in a hurry?" Barry's eyes were on the road again; but there was a good deal back of his light question.

"Not in any big hurry," Gaynel said. "She felt as though a tremendous lead had been lifted from her. Barry really had taken it very well. As she might have known he would. "Fritz wants me to tell the family. That won't be so much fun." She laughed. "I owe them so much, too, I can't just walk out. Fritz understands that. We . . . we're going to work it out somehow together. Yet saying this now to Barry it did not sound so simple. That dreadful doubt, each had of her again; those cold, cold facts."

"That's good." He did not sound as though he thought it would be simple, either. Barry knew Gaynel's family.

Gaynel said proudly, as though meeting a challenge. "Fritz has a grand new job. With a newspaper syndicate. He can take care of both of us nicely. Of course I wouldn't want him to take on any whole family — even if he could afford it."

"Of course not," Barry said. "I don't believe he'd do it, either." Gaynel mused. "He'd think it wasn't his job. Fritz has all sorts of idealist; he's a serious person — and stubborn. Though

Physical Attraction

Dear Miss Dix: Is sex attraction the most important thing in marriage? Are a woman's looks more important than anything else about her? My husband says that it is the physical counts, but it seems to me that marriage cannot last if there is only a physical attraction.

PUZZLED WIFE

Answer: Probably physical attraction is the basis of marriage. It is the mysterious force that draws a man and woman together; but there has to be something deeper and more lasting to hold them together and make a marriage a real success.

For passion dies of satiety. Physical attractions fade. Sickness, work, anxiety, time, all the inevitable wear and tear of life, slay the roses on the fairest cheek, dim the luster of the brightest eyes, rob even the most lissom figure of its willowiness, and if sex has nothing to take its place, these charms the wife is sunk, and marriage becomes nothing but dull endurance to her husband.

It is because men put the physical above the spiritual and the mental in picking out their wives that so many weary of lawful spouses and wander away from their own firesides. If a man values only the physical, he must be forever seeking fresh fields, younger and more beautiful women.

There are many women who have sex attraction for men, but who lack both head and heart. You see brainless dolls that men flatter around, but you cannot imagine any man of intelligence being happy with a wife of this type or living through forty or fifty years of contented wedlock with her.

For marriage, after the first wild rapture, settles down into the business of life in which a man and woman must develop a sort of glorified friendship if they are to find life joyous together. They must be chums who can talk together by the hour without ever talking out. There must be a bond between them that strengthens as the years go by, not one that weakens and snaps as soon as the girl's committing suicide. She

Don't take too seriously the girl's complaint that her grandmother is treating her cruelly. That isn't the way of grandmothers. The chances are that she spoiled the girl to death.

I don't think the young have any right to buy their happiness at the expense of their old parents. I think it is a dastardly deed for boys and girls to get married when they have no way of supporting a family, and take the bread out of their old parents' mouths to feed some stranger that they inflict upon them. Boys and girls who think themselves in love get married and dump a husband or a wife on father and mother. Presently their children also have to be taken care of, and father's and mother's last days are made hard and bitter by their children's selfishness.

Tell your girl that you are too much of a man to marry until you can take care of your wife. If she isn't willing to wait for you, she isn't worth having.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: How can one develop the ability to talk on any subject? I am always dumb when I should be able to speak.

ANSXIOUS

Answer: The gift of gab comes by Nature and is nothing that you can acquire. But you can learn to be an intelligent listener. They are so much rarer and more popular than talkers. Cultivate that end of the conversational game.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am engaged to a girl whom I love very much. I was thrown out of work by the closing down of the firm by which I was employed, and had to come back West and live with my family. I am still unemployed. My sweetheart lives with her grandmother, who is a wealthy woman and gives her everything, but my girl insists on coming here to marry me, although I tell her I have no way of supporting her. She says her grandmother is unkind. But her and persecutes her because she does not want her to marry me. My parents, of course, will take the girl in if I marry her, but they are old and are none too well off. The girl threatens to kill herself if I do not let her come to me. What shall I do?

Answer: Don't worry about the girl's committing suicide. She

Grieving Child to Be Buried With Father

Atlanta, Sept. 7 — (UP) —Nine-year-old Mary Virginia Long wept bitterly when her father, Hiram Long, 65, died Monday after several months' illness. The rest of the grief-stricken family was unable to console her.

Yesterday the father's body was brought home to remain until the funeral.

Mary Virginia knelt by the casket and sobbed. "Daddy, I don't want you to leave me. I want to go with you." Then she collapsed.

She was rushed to Grady Memorial hospital, where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

There is more profit in it.

Pirates Call in 12 From Minor Leagues

Pittsburgh, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates recalled 12 minor league players today, boosting their roster to 37—three less than they're allowed after September 1 under major league rules.

The 12 included: First Baseman Les Fleming, Second Baseman Jack Casani, Catcher Earl Turner, Pitcher Forrest Main and Pitcher Elmer Riddle.

Yanks Face Stiff Test Tonight

Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees, leading the American League since the opening game, face their severest test of the season tonight when they open a three game series with the challenging Boston Red Sox at Yankee stadium.

Casey Stengel's crippled Yanks lead the sizzling Sox by a game and a half and a Boston sweep would dump the Yanks into second place.

Stengel has selected Allie Reynolds (13-4) to face Ellis Kinder (18-5) before an estimated 75,000 plus crowd. Lefty Ed Lopat is the probable Yankee pitcher for the second encounter and Vic Raschi or Tommy Byrne for the third. The Sox are expected to counter with Jack Kramer and 21-game winner Mel Parnell.

Reaction to action of Joe DiMaggio and possible Catcher Yogi Berra greatly enhances the Yankee chances. DiMaggio bowed out of the second game in the Labor day doubleheader in Philadelphia because of leg cramps but the job reported the ailment had disappeared.

Berra, out with a fractured left thumb since Aug. 7, participated in a "pepper game" yesterday. He reported the digit "felt swell and I guess I'll play." The Yogi's big bat will receive a royal welcome.

Meanwhile, the equally tense National League race finds the front-running St. Louis Cardinals only one game ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Don Newcombe, big Negro right-hander pitched the Dodgers to within a game of the Redbirds last night as he turned back the Boston Braves 10-2 at Ebbets field. The Cards, the Chicago Cubs and the entire American League were idle.

Newcombe, in bagging his 15th triumph, yielded only six hits and fanned seven to run his long-leader streak out total to 128.

The Dodgers ace's string of consecutive scoreless innings was snapped at 31 when the Braves scored the first run of the game in the ninth.

Brooklyn bounced back in its half of the second to sew up the game, waiking Bill Voiselle for five runs. Voiselle previously had beaten the Brooks three times including two shutouts.

The defeat was the Braves' seventh.

ORDINANCE NO. 645

An Ordinance Assessing Benefits, Designating an Annual Payment of 20% of Said Benefits, Naming the Collector for Improvement District No. 14 and Setting Out an Emergency.

Whereas, the majority in value of the property adjoining the locality affected and situated in District No. 14 organized for the purpose of blacktopping according to the provisions made by the City of Hope, Arkansas, has petitioned the council of the City of Hope, Arkansas, for the construction of said improvement, and that the cost thereof shall be assessed upon the real property of said district according to benefits received; and

WHEREAS, said benefits received by each and every block, lot and parcel of real property situated in said district equals or exceeds the local assessment thereon; and

Whereas, the estimated cost of said improvement, to be located on West Avenue B from North Washington Street to west city limits is $5,787.15 dollars.

Therefore, it is now ordained by the City Council of the City of Hope, Arkansas, that the several blocks, lots and parcels of real property in said district be assessed according to the assessment list for said improvement, and that the same now remains in the office of the recorder or city clerk and that 20 per centum of the assessment of benefits, exclusive of interest, on each of said blocks, lots and parcels shall be paid to Charles Reynerson, Dist. Improvement Collector, on or before October 10, 1949, and that 20 per centum of each of said assessments with 5 per centum per annum interest on the unpaid balance of said assessment shall be paid annually thereafter until the whole of said assessment shall be paid. When the entire assessment of benefits on any block, lot or parcel shall be paid on or before October 10, 1949, no interest shall be charged as a part of any assessment.

The City Treasurer of Hope, Arkansas, is designated as Collector for this District in addition to his other duties.

SECTION II

Because this project is almost completed and money is needed immediately to pay these expenses already incurred an emergency is declared to exist and this Ordinance shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage.

Passed and approved on this 6 day of Sept., 1949, and published in the Hope Star of Hope, Arkansas, on Sept. 7, 1949.

ent straight and it dropped them three and one half games behind the third place Philadelphia Phillies who divided a doubleheader with the New York Giants.

Philadelphia came from behind to beat the Giants, 4-2, in the ten inning opener but Leo Durocher's men took the nightcap, 4-1.

Larry Jansen had the Phils beaten, 2-0, with no out in the ninth, when they rallied to tie up the game. Bill Nicholson's single broke it up in the following frame.

Sheldon Jones outpitched Hank Borowy in the finale, winning out when his battery mate, Wes Travis, pitched a three-run homer in the sixth.

The Cincinnati Reds exploded for four runs in the tenth inning to clip the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-3, under the lights at P. P. Park.

Winning Pitcher Ewell Blackwell singled to start the rally and Johnny Wyrostek climaxed the uprising with a two-run triple. Ralph Kiner poled his 43rd homer for the Pirates and struck out to end the game.

Vols Virtually Out of League Pennant Play

By The Associated Press

It isn't a hopeless fight yet so far as the Birmingham Barons are concerned, but Nashville's just about got the Southern association pennant sewed up.

The Vols who have five games to play before the season's end, have to win only two of them to capture the flag. Birmingham has eight to go. And just two defeats for Birmingham, and two Nashville victories, will wash the Barons out.

In their desperate effort to stay in the chase, the Barons swept a doubleheader from the Little Rock Travelers last night, 6-4 and 4-0.

At the same time, the Vols turned in a victory—their tenth straight—at the expense of the Mobile Bears, 9-5, in 12 innings.

Other games saw last-place Chattanooga down fourth-place New Orleans 6-2 and Memphis take Atlanta 4-1.

At Birmingham, right-hander Jim Suechick shut out the Travelers on three hits in a second game. Two homers figured in the scoring—Dutch Bamberger's ninth of the season and Fred Hatfield's 25th. Both came with the bases bare.

The Travelers jolted the Barons in the first inning of the first game with three runs on five hits off Jim Davis. But Birmingham went ahead to stay with a four-run spurt, sparked by Eddie Lyons' three-run double in the fourth.

Wednesday night's games: Memphis at Atlanta.

Little Rock at Birmingham.

Nashville at Mobile.

Chattanooga at New Orleans.

Porkers Get Top Cage Prospect

Fayetteville, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Billy Toner, six-foot, 11 inch, long-legged, six-foot, six feet, one inch, would attend the university and try out for the basketball team.

Coach Hershey Askew announced that Toner and his friend, a teammate, Wilbur Wood, six feet, one inch, would attend the university and try out for the basketball team.

That Toner and his friends and teammates averaged 22 points a game as center for Hall Summit high school last year, and played only about half of each game.

Homer Breaks Up 11-Inning Contest

By The Associated Press

Pine Bluff's Ray Smerek soaked a four-bagger with two mates aboard to break up an eleven inning play-off tilt with Greenwood Tuesday night 7 to 5.

The win gave the Cardinals a 3-2 edge over the Dodgers in the first round Cotton States playoff series.

Cardinal Ace Eddie Albrecht allowed ten hits along the route but fanned 15 Dodgers.

South paw John Miskulin of Natchez pitched four hit-ball to add the Indians to a 3 to 1 victory over the Oilers of El Dorado.

Miskulin's mates collected nine hits off Oiler hurler Walters.

The team moves to El Dorado tomorrow with Natchez leading the series 3 to 2. They need only one more win to move into the finals.

Legion to Send Cats to Pro Game

Thanks to the local American Legion members of the Hope football squad will get to see the professional game in Little Rock Saturday between the Los Angeles Rams and the Philadelphia Eagles.

About 30 members of the squad have indicated they will be able to attend along with the coaches.

The Legion has chartered a special bus which will take them to and from the game.

Leopards to Hold Weight Advantage

Bobby Ellen is bringing his DeQueen Leopards to town Friday night to beat Hope in the opening contest of the season for both squads.

And apparently the Sevier county fans feel that same way as two special buses already have been chartered for the Hope trip, leaving DeQueen about 6 p.m. and arriving here shortly before game time. Many more plan to drive.

There is no doubt the Leopards are stronger this season than in the past few years and have more than a full team of returning lettermen. In fact they apparently have so much material that Coach Ellen is following the "college plan" of having a defensive and offensive team.

Now the line of the offensive team weighs in at a mere 170 compared to 185 for Hope. The Leopards' defensive line tips the scales at 180, some 18 pounds per man more than the Bobcats. The DeQueen backs average 154 compared to Hope's 150.

So from practically any way you look at it the Bobcats are out-weighted, outlettered and out-doped. And Coach Bobby Ellen would like nothing better than to soundly lick his old home town and average 34 to 9 shellacking last year.

The Bobcats have been put through their chores for the past three weeks and its generally conceded they have the prospects for a pretty fair ball club. Although "inexperienced" they are "coming along" says Coach Clyde Trickey.

Although the dope seems to be against them the outcome of the contest will not be known until late Friday night.

Ft. Wayne Is Seeking Third National Title

Wichita, Kas., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Fort Wayne goes into the final game of the national semi-pro baseball tournament tonight with a 50-50 chance of winning its third consecutive title.

The Indiana General Electric team earned that chance last night by beating the Golden, Colo., Coors, 5-2.

Golden previously had been unbeaten in the double elimination tournament, but Fort Wayne had won one game. Another loss last night would have ousted Fort Wayne.

In tonight's championship game, Frank Ververka will start on the mound for Fort Wayne and Clayton Frees will pitch for Golden. Both are left-handers.

Ververka is a former Southern association star. Frees pitched for the Waco, Tex., Dons in the 1942 semi-pro tourney, winning three games. The Dons won second place this year.

Bill Ricks, Fort Wayne right-hander, limited the Coors to six hits to spoil their chance of clinching the title last night.

Every year the telephone becomes more and more important in our daily lives. And every year brings further progress in telephone service. New telephones added so you can reach and be reached by more people. Improvements made so you can hear better, get your calls through quicker, enjoy more trouble-free service. The result—a real bargain today that grows in value every year.

Easy to Play New Card Game Canasta

By William E. McKenney

Today we'll discuss "going out," and special rules of Canasta.

Stock Pile Exhausted: When a player draws the last card of the stock pile, various procedures of play follow:

(1) If the card drawn is a red trey, he places it face up on the table, mends any of his cards that he desires, but does not discard, and the hand is over.

(2) If he draws the last card of the stock pile and discards a black trey, a deuce or a joker, the hand is ended.

(3) If he makes a regular discard (other than a wild card or a black trey), the next player may take the discard pile if he can freeze the up-card with two cards from his hand. If the pack is frozen, the rules governing the frozen pack prevail.

If the pack is not frozen, and the up-card can be added to one of his side's melds, he must take the pack. Play continues in this manner until a player legally refuses to take the up-card.

If no player melds out, the scores are tabulated in the regular manner, but neither side receives the bonus.

Special Rules: A player may always combine two or more melds of the same rank made by his side but may not withdraw any card from the meld. In other words, there is no "splitting a meld."

When a deuce or a joker is one played, it cannot be taken up again.

In other words, there is no trading for the joker or deuce. No meld can contain more than three wild cards unless it is a completed Canasta. You may continue adding cards to a completed Canasta indefinitely, even if there are then more than three wild cards in it.

Two and Three-Handed Canasta: The best two-handed game of Canasta is to deal each player 15 cards. The rules of four-handed Canasta apply, except that it takes two Canastas to go out. In two-handed, the deal alternates.

For three-handed Canasta, deal 13 cards to each. Only one Canasta is required to go out, as in the four-handed game.

It is customary at the end of each game to figure each side's score to the nearest hundred, 50 points or more counting as 100.

Tomorrow: Pointers from experience.

McClellan Not Interested in Another Job

Memphis, Sept. 7 —(AP)— Senator McClellan (D-Ark) says he's not interested in any other job except the one he holds.

He made this statement yesterday to the Little Rock Bureau of the Commercial Appeal. He went on to say it might be a different matter if he is asked to take a federal judgeship four or five years from now.

Giant Hurricane Spends Itself Near Bermuda

Miami, Fla., Sept. 6 —(AP)— A giant tropical hurricane with winds up to 120 miles an hour churned the Atlantic some 400 miles south southeast of Bermuda today with virtually no forward movement.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster here, said the gargantuan storm "apparently is just wallowing around hundreds of miles from anywhere."

"From information we now have it appears that the storm hasn't moved more than one degree of latitude in the past 24 hours," said Norton.

An air force radar plane took off at dawn to track the big twister and reports from the hurricane hunter later in the day were expected to give an accurate picture of the storm's progress.

Norton said the storm was approximately 1,000 miles south-southeast of New York, about 800 miles slightly south of east of Charleston, S. C., and between 850 and 900 miles east North-East of Miami.
